GAMBLING. In another column will be found a letter eatten to the Abingdon Virginian by an inmate of a prison, warning young men and others against the use of whisky and the practice of gambling. This young man's name was Pate, and was born, no doubt, of the best parents. He murdered a fellow-creature at the card table and suffered the ignoble penalty of death by hanging. We invite a perueal of his letter by all, but most especially by many young men in our own immediate vicinity, who have been drawn into the snares his energy, his industry, his noble qualities- ness all that promises to alleviate. HIS SOUL. Oh, what a pity, what a shame! If the laws of our land can do nothing, will our brow" we are commanded to live, yet here we have a set of beings who live upon money that, in the sight of God, had as well been stolen. When church is dismissed, instead of confusion there is order—the family is not scattered and there is no waiting at the door for lost ones. During services, too, there is no sleeping-no tobacco chewing, &c., for scarcely any one would do either of these uncomely things in the presence of ladies at church.

We hope the other churches will follow suit, and we hope that during crowded times, at least, a suitable person or two may be ap- his purchases and judging from the pointed to seat visitors when they enter, and not let them wander about and seat themselves as best they can.
